Provider Description

Information provided by the provider describing their agency:

Sean Barrett is originally from Yorktown, New York. Sean Barrett received his B.S. in Education from Pace University in Pleasantville New York; he completed his student teaching in Peekskill, New York. He began his career in the Bronx NY as a special education teacher for self-contained students. As he taught full time during the day, he completed his Masters in Science at Manhattan College in Special Education in the evenings. He moved to Connecticut and left the classroom to investigate the Applied Behavioral Science Field. He received a post graduate BCBA respecialization degree from the Chicago School of Professional Psychology. His specialties include Antecedent Manipulations, Parent training, and ASD programs that include a variety of researched based trainings. He combines his Special Education experience along with a high degree of understanding in Applied Behavior Analysis to become a talented and important support for children with special needs and their families. Sean's entire professional career has been providing behavior supports within a multitude of environments including the classroom, families' homes, and residential settings.

"A behavioral change may be said to have generality if it proves durable over time, if it appears in a wide variety of possible environments, or if it spreads to a wide variety of related behaviors." Baer, D.M., Wolf, M.M., & Risley, T.R. (1968)
